

SPACE // Master of Architecture

INTERNATIONAL POSTGRADUATE MASTER'S DEGREE COURSE

Zollverein School
of management and design

Entitled 'SPACE – shaping politics, architecture, culture & economy', this new course puts design in a broader context. SPACE does not occupy the classic middle ground of architectural training, but focuses on maximising the potential at its fringes. The SPACE – in other words the area of opportunity between architecture, design and its social context – thereby becomes a testing ground for an extended concept of design.

SPACE // Master of Architecture

LECTURERS

Ruedi Baur, Ben van Berkel, Reinhard Binder, Christopher Dell, Bernhard Franken, Bjarke Ingels, Momoyo Kaijima + Yoshiharu Tsukamoto, Bernd Kniess, Ulrich Königs, Anne Lacaton + Jean-Philippe Vassal, Duncan Lewis, Jürgen Mayer H., Ilka Ruby + Andreas Ruby, Patrik Schumacher, Kazuyo Sejima + Ryue Nishizawa, Peter Swinnen, Werner Sobek, and others.

STUDENTS

SPACE is aimed at architects, urban designers, and structural engineers, as well as designers in a wide range of creative disciplines. The research and design competencies of multi-disciplinary teams benefit from the specific experience of their individual members and interfaces with other disciplines.

FACTS & FIGURES

Degree and title: Master of Architecture (MArch)
International full-time post-graduate degree course
Duration: 16 months
Course starts: October 2007
Closing date for applications: 31 August 2007
Tuition fees: €15,000
Course language: English