

Faculty and staff Lublin Master Class

Didier Rebois, visiting professor

Architect and architectural critic. He is Secretary-General of European Europe, Paris. European is a multinational organization whose primary goal is to assist the young architects in Europe in developing and disseminating their design ideas through built projects in collaboration with a number of different developers and municipalities. Didier Rebois is also an architectural scholar with an appointment at the Versailles School of Architecture (Paris). His special field of interest is the understanding of the city fabric starting from mobility.

Juliette van der Meijden, studio coordinator

Urban Designer and consultant. She graduated in Architecture at the Faculdades Integradas Bennett in Rio de Janeiro (Brazil) and in Urban Design at the Academy of Architecture in Rotterdam (the Netherlands). She lectured at various international universities and conferences. In 2002 she became coordinator of the Master of Urbanism Program at the Academy of Architecture and Urbanism in Tilburg. She specializes in urban visions.

Ewa Kipta, Lublin coordinator

Senior urban planner at the City Office of Lublin, Department of Strategy and Development, Unit for Urban Planning. Her main speciality is urban revitalisation, with a particular interest in physical and economical rehabilitation of historic areas. She followed several international courses on urban development and rehabilitation, amongst others at Harvard University, Graduate School of Design and Leicester Polytechnic Business School, UK.

Rob van der Bijl, lecturer

Urban designer and consultant. He holds both an academic and doctoral degree in urban planning and design. His main expertise is on infrastructure related to urban planning and design. He worked on various international cases and published articles and books on new developments in regional infrastructure. He is visiting lecturer at many universities in Europe and USA.

Liviu Ianasi, lecturer

Lecturer in the Urban Planning Department, Ion Mincu University in Bucharest. He teaches among others courses in Urban Management, Advanced Planning and seminars on Strategic Planning. His studio activities range from urban planning, urban design to landscape design. He teaches also at the Summer School Programme at the Central European University in Budapest, and worked as consultant in Romania, Poland, Montenegro, Croatia, Moldova and Georgia, as well as for the USAID, Phare, World Bank, UNCHS assistance programs.

Reinier de Graaf, lecturer

Partner of the Office for Metropolitan Architecture (OMA), which he joined in 1996. In 2002 he became director for AMO, the think-tank of OMA, where he was responsible for the production of 'The Image of Europe', an exhibition that provides a history of European political representation. As Partner of OMA he is working on the master plan for the White City area of London; a harbour redevelopment in Riga including a contemporary art museum. Recently he has taken responsibility for OMA's growing engagement in the Middle East and leads two master plans in Dubai, a master plan in Kuwait and three projects in Ras-Al-Khaimah.

Lidia Joanna Geringer de Oedenberg, Round Table key-note

Polish politician and member of the European Parliament. Member of the Committee on Regional Development. She holds a degree in Economics and Marketing Studies in Culture from the Warsaw School of Economics. From 2001 she is General Director of the Wroclaw Philharmonic and Vice Chairman of the Polish Television S.A.

Donald van Dansik, Round Table key-note

London based architect and consultant for the 'Deltametropool Foundation', an advisory body for the Dutch government. Up till 2006 he was professor of architecture at Eindhoven Technical University and partner at One Architecture in Amsterdam. Starting 1998 he was managing director at the Office for Metropolitan Architecture (OMA) in Rotterdam. At OMA he worked on Urban Planning projects in Europe and Asia, the most famous being Euralille where he was the project director.

Marc Glaudemans, director Stadslab

Architect and consultant. He graduated in Architecture and Urbanism at Eindhoven University of Technology. After a short period in an architectural office in Amsterdam, he started a PhD research in the field of Urban and Landscape Theory and History. Marc Glaudemans lectured at several Dutch and International universities and participated in many international conferences. In 2000 he started an architectural consultancy firm: AERO Architecture and Planning. Also, he became head of the Architecture department at Eindhoven University. In 2004 Marc Glaudemans became dean of the Academy of Architecture and Urbanism in Tilburg.

Lecturer seminar on International process management

Details will be published later.

Round Table key-note, CEO

Details will be published later

Lecture succesful European city administrator

Details will be published later.